It's more than just having the right skills and qualifications!

There are many personal qualities employers look for too. Employers want to make sure you're the right person for the job and are able to work effectively and efficiently amongst their team.

Time keeping and excellent attendance

It's important to turn up to work everyday, on time, and follow employee protocols if you are sick.

Passion for the work you're doing

You must demonstrate an understanding and feel passionately about the industry you're working in.

A good attitude in the workplace

You must show commitment, be able to take instruction and prove you are a good asset to the team.

Present a positive image

You are representing the company, therefore you need to ensure you turn up for work in the appropriate attire.

Be polite and show professionalism

Have good manners, always remain professional in the workplace and don't be afraid to ask for instruction.

Willingness to progress

Demonstrate your willingness to learn, not only by aiming for your qualifications but within your job role too.

Confidence and independence

Take ownership of your own learning and development, in order to fulfil the components of the framework.

A strong team player

Show that you are able to get along and work well with others and that you're not afraid to offer help when needed.
